EXCLUSIVE 12 DAYS TO GO

ENGLAND'S footballers' wives are guaranteed not to have cellulite as their World Cup hotel has bought the latest fatfighting machines.

The Brenners Park Hotel, where Victoria Beckham, Coleen McLoughlin and Cheryl Tweedie will be staying with the rest of the wives and girlfriends, has splashed out over £100,000 re-equipping their gym.

Among the new machines at the complex in Baden-Baden is a device that claims to beat cellulite and another which promises users a six-pack stomach.

A source at the £1,000- a-night German resort said: "Bosses know the wives will demand the best facilities and they want to provide them.

"I'm sure people think they don't need these machines as they're super slim but none of them wants to be caught looking anything but their best.

"One of the management has contacted the wives to tell them about the machines - and they were delighted."

The star turn will be the Hypoxi L250 which is a egg-shaped device in which the women will have their legs electrically powered up and down toning their hips, thighs and bums - and reducing any cellulite.

The swish resort is a 30-minute drive from the players' Schlosshotel but is far more glamorous with crystal chandeliers and marble bathrooms.
